Apart from bringing your questions, you are asked to bring something to play: preferably something to do with service playing. It can be as small as one verse of a hymn, a piece of psalm or maybe a movement from a service setting. It does not have to be complicated. We are here to help those having difficulties, give them encouragement and maybe even provide an answer or two for those questions you have always meant to ask but have never got round to. This is an informal and friendly evening.
